FLU EPIDEMIC HITS TOWN

Over Fifty Cases Reported

Monitor is now in the grip of the flu, which broke out last Saturday. The new School was turned into a base hospital and as each new case was discovered they were hurried to the school, where cots, beds, etc., had been quickly gathered and set up. Two nurses and two V. A. D's. were brought in, and all that could be done to make the patients comfortable was supplied. The Red Cross Societies at Consort, Loyalist, Veteran, Coronation and the depot at Calgary, have kindly supplied sheets, pillow cases, etc. No better place than the new school could have been secured, with big, bright, well heated and well ventilated rooms. Five families have been quarantined, at home were the other members of the household can attend to the sick ones. All the patients are doing fine, most of the cases being light attacks. There are thirty-five patients in the hospital, and about fifteen in the quarantined houses. About ten of the business men of the town are sick, Garries, Mettrey, Deadmarsh, Larder, Vosburgh, Tarr, Lay, Charlie Yee, along with other residents, including six women and about a dozen children.

All business places are open as usual, and, contrary to reports, the town was not and is not under quarantine.

The Chautauqua Girls wished to say "good-bye" boys, but couldn't venture into the sick wards. Hard luck, old sports.

The people of Canada subscribe over $677,000,000 to the Victory Loan, which closed on Saturday night.

Note and Comment

It looks now as if we were just a little premature in our remarks about the flu epidemic in this town. There is no doubt but the present state of affairs is due to the recent victory celebrations, when so many of those who have the flu, did not wear their masks. The efficient manner in which the situation is being handled speaks highly for those in charge.

The recent fall of snow will keep the dust down and will in this way help to prevent the spread of the germs.

Poetry By The Pound

On a notice from the Pound Keep
I put on my shoes and sped,
Out upon the bald head prairie
And left behind a nice warm bed.

Of course I thought I'd pay the poundman
Two small plunks for both my roams.
But I found to my amazement
I was charged with Seventy Bones.

When your cattle go to straying
Over on your neighbors soil,
Go after them and run like blazes
Or you'll surely hear him boil.

It is best to keep our stock up
I can now most plainly see,
And for mean and dirty actions
— is IT in Busy B.

An Address To The Flu

O, Mister Flu
We all hate you.
We ain't prepared to die!
You stop our breath,
Along comes Death
An the Sweetest Bime-lye!

There's some right here
Wat's fond o' beer,
They're heading straight for hell,
There's other folk—
Oh, Holy Smoke!
Their names I dussn't tell!

O Mister Flu
Have mercy, do!
We'll promise to be better,
We'll wear our mask
(Some slobberin' task
We found it when we met Her!)

In Busy B.
We've all kept free
From germs, 'n everything.
Keep clear away
We're all O. K.
Cheased up with a bit o' string.

BUSY BIDEFORD

One of the saddest Flu cases we have heard of is the death of Mrs. Jim Bennett, which occurred en route to Tofield, where Jim was thinking of settling for the winter. Mrs. Jim had been in bed with the flu a few weeks ago, and feeling better ventured the trip by auto to Tofield, which proved too much for her. She was taken seriously ill, near Veteran, and died in the hotel there. The sympathy of everyone is with the husband, they having only been married last year.

Mr. Albury, a well known Bidefordite, succumbed to the flu, when down east. We remember his fine music at the farewell party to the McLeod boys. His death came as a great shock, as he was considered a strong, healthy man, good for a ripe old age, but the flu is no respecter of persons.

The question on everyone's lips is "whose cow is in the pound now?" The poundmaster has had a busy week and we hear that he is likely to be busier. Verbum sap.

The small attendance on the night of the Victory Bonfire was accounted for by three good reasons. First, the Flu fiend is still at large, secondly, the Bideford wireless station was out of commission, thirdly, the efforts of the yellow liver artists were not appreciated by the white folk of this district. We apologize especially to one young patriotic Englishman who is always to the front in every loyal work, that we were unaware that he had not been reached by the methods we employed (said to be quicker than telephone or telegraph—"Tell-a-woman.") We anticipate however, a day of celebration, some time later, when health conditions are safer and we shall advertise in good time in our column in the News. Query, Do you take the "News", If not why not? Sub. $1.00 per year. See the woman with the bag.

Motto for this week—Do unto others as you know jolly well they would never do to you.

Bideford's new problem, How to grubstake for the winter when cattle are kept at home.

Eric Brokman, Ole Rickstad, and others, are leaving town to find employment in Calgary, for the winter. We wish them all the best of luck and safe home again.

Bideford now has a butcher shop. We never tasted better flavored beef or pork than that supplied by Mr. Perell. As a side line he deals in second-hand furniture, etc., and one can often pick up a real bargain for a few bones.

Cattle are changing hands daily owing to the feed problem, and the prices are all in favor of the buyers. Six car load of cattle left for Chicago the men in charge looking the real thing in their sheepskin chaps and wild-west hats.

Bideford's Bards are letting off steam and we publish this week two explosions in the column to the west! The public are asked to supply the blanks in the first, we had to muzzle it.

The burning question of the day is, "Have you the flu?"

The remaining members of the Chautauque, twelve in number, left for Chicago on Wednesday.

V. S. Kay, Manager of the Merchants Bank, Kirriemuir, was a visitor in town this week.

The many friends of Robert J. Clark will be sorry to hear that he fell a victim to the flu, while down in Montana, and passed away on Oct. 29th.

'Bobbie, Clark was one of the first to enlist, from here, and put in three years in France, and being gassed was given his discharge a few months ago. His remains were sent to Ontario, for burial.

Dr. Day, Consort, has been a very busy man since the flu epidemic hit the country, and he has a large territory to cover owing to several of the doctors being down with the flu.

R. W. Fish, Kirriemuir, is having a closing out sale.

Miss Annie Martin has accepted a position at the Drug Store.

The Merchants Bank is opening a Branch, in Kirriemuir, next week. They have leased the Pool Hall and are making the necessary changes.

Ayling & Morris, Kirriemuir, are having a two-weeks sale. See their ad on another page.

The regulations calling for passports, for men of military age, have been canceled.

It is no longer necessary to purchase substitutes when buying wheat flour.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M.E. Anderson passed away on Wednesday.

The Town Council has engaged Mr. and Mrs. Melvin to make soup, etc., for the flu patients. They are using the Hotel kitchen.

Ted Stewart was on police duty, yesterday, around the town.

Looks as if we will have a touch of winter now.
